Android head logo (Image credit: Android Central) Android 10 has been out for more than a year now, and whether you're excited about its new permission settings for apps or the glorious dark mode, there are plenty of reasons to be eager for it to arrive on your phone. Android 11 has already been available for the Pixel lineup since day one. While we are seeing the likes of Samsung and OnePlus devices getting the latest updates, many handsets are still awaiting the update to Android 10. However, as with all Android updates, there's a difference between when Google launches the final build and when the new software actually arrives on your smartphone. We'll be taking a look at all of the major Android phone makers and breakdown when exactly you can expect an Android 10 update for your device. Let's dive a bit deeper and find out which of the best Android phones have been updated to Android 10. Google Pixel Source: Hayato Huseman / Android Central (Image credit: Source: Hayato Huseman / Android Central) Let's start with Google's own phones, the Pixel series. Android 10 has been guaranteed for every existing Pixel device, with the full list being as follows: Pixel 4a Pixel 4 / Pixel 4 XL Pixel 3a / Pixel 3a XL Pixel 3 / Pixel 3 XL Pixel 2 / Pixel 2 XL Pixel / Pixel XLs of September 3, 2019, Android 10 started rolling out for all of these handsets, making them the first batch of phones to be treated to 10's goodness. Samsung Source: Nirave Gondhia / Android Central (Image credit: Source: Nirave Gondhia / Android Central) Samsung is the big player in the entire smartphone world. The needle moves a fair bit when Samsung updates a phone. So far, Samsung has issued its Android 10 update to the following devices: Galaxy Note 20 / Note 20 Ultra Galaxy S20 FE Galaxy S20, S20+, and S20 Ultra Samsung Galaxy Z Fold / Z Flip 2 Galaxy Z Flip / Z Flip 5G Galaxy S10, S10+, S10e, and S10 Lite Galaxy S9 and S9+ Galaxy Note 10, Note 10+, and Note 10 Lite Galaxy Note 9 Galaxy M11 Galaxy M51 Galaxy A71 Galaxy A71 5G Galaxy A70/A70s Galaxy A51 Galaxy A50 Galaxy A42 5G Galaxy A31 Galaxy A30s Galaxy A21 / A21S Galaxy A20/A20s Galaxy A11 Galaxy A10LG Source: Alex Dobie / Android Central (Image credit: Source: Alex Dobie / Android Central) In recent years, LG has become notorious for slow, inconsistent Android updates. It pains us to say that, but that's the fact. As of right now, LG has updated the following phones to Android 10: LG Wing LG Velvet LG G8LG G8X LG G7 / G7 One LG G7 ThinQ+ LG V60LG V50LG V40LG Q60LG Stylo 5LG K30LG K50LG K50s LG K61LG Q60Huawei Source: Alex Dobie / Android Central (Image credit: Source: Alex Dobie / Android Central) Huawei is one of the world's largest smartphone makers, with its devices ranging from high-end flagships to low-cost budget options. Almost all of the company's current handsets have already been updated to Android 10, including: Huawei P40 series Huawei P30 series Huawei P20 series Huawei Mate 40 Series Huawei Mate 30E Pro 5G Huawei Mate 20 series Huawei Mate 10 series Huawei Mate X / Mate Xs Huawei Y7a Honor 30 / 30 Pro Honor 30 / 20 Pro Lite Honor 30S Honor 30i Honor 20S Honor View 20 Honor 10X Lite Honor 10i Honor View 10 Honor 9A Honor 9X / 9X Pro Honor 8XM Motorola Source: Joe Maring / Android Central (Image credit: Source: Joe Maring / Android Central) Motorola used to be on top of its game when it came to Android updates, but in recent years, the company has gotten slower and more inconsistent with how it handles new software. As of right now, these are all of the Motorola phones that have successfully gotten their Android 10 update: Motorola Edge / Edge+ Moto G 5G Moto G9 Power Moto G8 Plus Moto G8 Play Moto G7 Moto G7 Play Moto G7 Power Moto G7 Plus Moto G Fast Moto Z4 Motorola One / One 5G Motorola One Action Motorola One Fusion+ Motorola One Macro Motorola One Power Motorola One Vision Motorola One Zoom Motorola RAZR / RAZR 5G Moto E (2020) Moto E7 Plus Moto G9 Plus Moto G9 Play Motorola One 5G Ace Moto G Stylus (2021) Moto G Power (2021) Moto G Play (2021) There are a few other phones that we expect to get Android 10 at some point, with those being: Nokia Source: Joe Maring / Android Central (Image credit: Source: Joe Maring / Android Central) When it comes to Android updates, one company that stands out among the rest is Nokia. Led by HMD Global, this current iteration of the Nokia brand has become synonymous with phones that have clean software and get timely, consistent updates. Nokia's been hard at work updating a bunch of its phones to Android 10, with all of the following now running the software: Nokia 8 V 5G UWNokia 9 PureView Nokia 8.3 5G Nokia 8.1 Nokia 8 Sirocco Nokia 7.2 Nokia 7.1 Nokia 7 Plus Nokia 6.2 Nokia 6.1 Plus Nokia 6.1 Nokia 5.3 Nokia 5.1 Plus Nokia 4.2 Nokia 3.4 Nokia 3.2 Nokia 3.1 Plus Nokia 3.1 Nokia 3V Nokia 2.4 Nokia 2.3 Nokia 2.2 Nokia 1 Plus Nokia 1 Nokia 5.1 Nokia 3.1 Nokia 2.1 One Plus Source: Apoorva Bhardwaj / Android Central (Image credit: Source: Apoorva Bhardwaj / Android Central) OnePlus touts fast updates and a fast track to the latest version of Android as a feature of its phones. The company has repeatedly proven that platform updates can be done quickly and fairly bug-free, and that hasn't changed with Android 10. Here are the phones for which Android 10 is now available: One Plus Nord N10 5G One Plus Nord N100 One Plus Nord One Plus 8 / 8 Pro One Plus 7T / 7T Pro One Plus 7 One Plus 7 Pro One Plus 7 Pro 5G One Plus 6T One Plus 6 One Plus 5 / 5T Despite being launched with Android Nougat back in 2017, the One Plus 5 and 5T were updated to Android 10 on May 27th, 2020. The HTC Tilt (AKA Kaiser). Photograph: Rob Cardin As a long-time Windows Mobile user who finally gave up on it and switched to an Android phone, I've been thrilled with the new operating system. Now, it looks like others who are fed up with WinMo might be able to switch a little more easily. Over at XDA-developers, a forum where developers post hacks, tips, and software, a developer has released a beta ROM of Android 2.1 for four Windows Mobile phones, all by HTC: the Tilt for AT&T (AKA the HTC Kaiser), Vogue, Niki, and Polaris. That means that four phones that aren't built with Android at all have Android 2.1 before some native Android phones, like the Hero and the Droid Eris. Installing the ROM requires "rooting" your phone, which takes some know-how, but for those not faint of heart or worried about breaking their phone, or maybe those just that tired of Windows Mobile, it's a great solution. There are detailed instructions, available on the XDA site. It's a beta version, which means there are some bugs, including two notable ones: the Bluetooth features are totally unpredictable, and the camera doesn't work at all. For some other bugs, the XDA forum is talking about and fixing a lot of the problems people are having with their changes. It's probably not the optimal solution for improving your cell phone fortunes, but if you're stuck with your phone for a while and can't wait to get to Android, it's a great solution. [XDA via Hack A Day] Go to Settings > Cloud and accounts > Backup and restore (or Systems > Backup on some phones). Select the options you want to back up automatically. This article explains how to back up your Android phone automatically. It also includes information on backing up using third-party apps and on manually backing up your photos. This information applies to phones with Android Pie, Oreo, or Nougat. Backing up your Android data is simple. Google stores most of your options and data in the cloud, making it easy to transfer it from one device to another, such as when you buy a new phone. As long as your Android device uses your primary email, nearly everything in the Google suite, including Calendar, Contacts, Gmail, and other Google apps, is set to automatically back up. By default, your Android phone is set to back up data automatically. Follow these steps to make sure the settings are correct. Tap the Settings app to open the Android settings. Go to Cloud and accounts and tap Backup and restore. If that option isn't on your device, select System > Backup. The options for each phone are different, so you may need to hunt for this setting. Select the backup options you want. Many phones display the last time the data was backed up, as well as a way to back up manually. On older phones, there may be an option to manually back up all your Android data. Navigate to System > Advanced > Backup > Backup now. There are several third-party options to back up an Android device. Samsung users can use the Samsung Cloud service. Here are some other options: G Cloud Backup: It's free, it's easy to use, and one of the highest-rated Android backup apps in the Google Play store. G Cloud Backup has an intuitive setup, and you choose which apps, items, and data to back up. It also has inexpensive options to upgrade an account and add more data and choices. App Backup and Restore: App Backup and Restore offers a few more options for users with a lot of data, but it's not quite as easy to use as G Cloud. If you prefer to have a physical data backup (such as an SD card) over cloud storage, this one is a better bet for ease of use. SMS Backup & Restore: If you want to access your text messages across devices, this is the app for you. It's easy to use, and you can set up an automatic update schedule so you don't need to remember to manually back up your messages. After you set up a schedule, this app does the rest. Automatic backups are great, but they don't include some data, like pictures. You need to back up photos separately. Several services can back up photos from your Android smartphone, including Dropbox and Amazon Photos, which is free if you have Amazon Prime. Google Photos is also a good option, and easy to use. Here's how to use Google Photos to back up photos on an Android phone: Download Google Photos from the Play Store and open the app. In the search bar at the top, tap Menu (the three stacked horizontal lines) and select Settings. Select Back up & Sync. Turn on the Back up & sync toggle switch. If you want to back up photos from locations other than your camera folder, select Back up device folders and choose the folders to back up. Thanks for letting us know!
